Operating Performance

"Triton achieved solid results in the first quarter of 2020 despite facing significant market disruptions from the COVID-19 outbreak," commented Brian M. Sondey, Chief Executive Officer of Triton. "We generated $67.1 million of Adjusted net income in the first quarter, or $0.93 of Adjusted net income per share, and we realized an annualized Return on equity of 13.1%. Our first quarter results include a $3.9 million credit charge related to one of our mid-sized customers."

"Starting late January, the outbreak of COVID-19 and the implementation of extensive work restrictions in China led to a steep drop in exports from China. This drop in exports led to limited container demand, and our utilization has been decreasing since February after stabilizing in December and January. However, first quarter container production was very low, and our high-quality long-term lease portfolio continues to provide strong protection against short-term market challenges. As a result, container drop-off volumes have been moderate and our utilization was 95.2% as of April 17, 2020. New container prices increased rapidly in the first part of the year due to early expectations for increased trade growth and actions by container manufacturers to rationalize shift capacity. While container prices have moderated recently, price indications remain over $2,000 for a 20' dry container."

"As of April 17, 2020, we have purchased $192.8 million of containers for delivery in 2020. While new container purchases remain below our target level, Triton continues to use its strong cash flow to drive shareholder value in other ways. Our regular dividend currently provides an annual yield over seven percent. We also repurchased 1.4 million common shares during the first quarter for an average price of $27.43, and repurchased an additional 0.7 million shares through April 17, 2020. We have purchased over 10.8 million shares since the inception of the program in August 2018."

"Export volumes from China increased throughout March as work restrictions eased in China. However, the spread of COVID-19 to other parts of the world and the strong actions taken by many countries to reduce exposures have led to a sharp decrease in global economic activity during the second quarter and a second steep drop in containerized trade volumes. We expect demand for leased containers to be negatively impacted for as long as global economic activity and trade volumes are weak. A prolonged slowdown in trade volumes due to the pandemic could significantly increase the financial challenges facing our customers. We are closely monitoring our customers' payment performance and expect our customer credit risk will remain elevated as long as economic and trade disruptions persist."

"We believe Triton is well positioned to manage through the current environment and fully participate in the eventual market recovery. Our lease portfolio provides a high degree of revenue and cash flow stability. Our operations are well-suited to remote working and we have not experienced problems supporting our customers. Our leverage is well below our typical level due to the series of perpetual preferred stock offerings we completed over the last year. We have a significant level of cash on hand and extensive availability under our revolving credit facilities. We have a large inventory of new and used containers in key demand areas, and stand ready to support our customers with our unrivaled supply capability when demand recovers."

Outlook

"There is a high degree of uncertainty to our outlook due to the unprecedented nature of the broad economic shutdowns across the globe. We expect our profitability will decrease from the first quarter of 2020 to the second quarter due to weak economic and trade activity. The trajectory of our profitability from the second quarter through the end of the year will depend on how rapidly the global economy and trade volumes recover from COVID-19 shocks, and whether we experience a meaningful level of credit losses.

In the past, we have typically benefitted from strong recoveries after periods of weak market conditions. In this case, the eventual recovery in lease demand could be magnified by operational disruptions from COVID-19 shutdowns and the widespread use of containers as temporary storage for cargo. These disruptions have slowed the global flow of containers and may increase the number of containers needed when cargo volumes recover."

About Triton International Limited

Triton International Limited is the world’s largest lessor of intermodal freight containers. With a container fleet of 6.0 million twenty-foot equivalent units ("TEU"), Triton’s global operations include acquisition, leasing, re-leasing and subsequent sale of multiple types of intermodal containers and chassis.

Utilization and Fleet Information

Effective December 31, 2019, we revised our cost equivalent units ("CEU") factor to be more in line with the cost of new containers over the last several years. These new CEU factors are generally consistent with those published by the International Institute for Container Lessors ("IICL"). We use the CEU factors to measure the size and performance of our container fleet.

The following table sets forth the equipment fleet utilization for the periods indicated:

	Quarter Ended
	March 31, 2020	December 31, 2019	September 30, 2019	June 30, 2019	March 31, 2019
Average Utilization ⁽¹⁾	95.4%	95.8%	96.7%	97.2%	97.7%
Ending Utilization ⁽¹⁾	95.3%	95.4%	96.4%	97.1%	97.4%

The following table summarizes the equipment fleet as of March 31, 2020, December 31, 2019 and March 31, 2019:

	6,848,575	6,895,304	7,001,662

In the equipment fleet tables above, we have included total fleet count information based on CEU. CEU is a ratio used to convert the actual number of containers in our fleet to a figure based on the relative purchase prices of our various equipment types to that of a 20-foot dry container. For example, the CEU ratio for a 40-foot high cube dry container is 1.70, and a 40-foot high cube refrigerated container is 7.50. These factors may differ slightly from CEU ratios used by others in the industry.

Use of Non-GAAP Financial Items

We use the terms "Adjusted net income" and return on equity throughout this press release.

Adjusted net income and return on equity are not items presented in accordance with U.S. GAAP and should not be considered as alternatives to, or more meaningful than, amounts determined in accordance with U.S. GAAP, including net income.

Adjusted net income is adjusted for certain items management believes are not representative of our operating performance. Adjusted net income is defined as net income attributable to common shareholders excluding debt termination expenses net of tax, unrealized gains and losses on derivative instruments net of tax, and the tax benefit from vesting of restricted shares.

We believe that Adjusted net income is useful to an investor in evaluating our operating performance because this item:

- is widely used by securities analysts and investors to measure a company's operating performance;
- helps investors to more meaningfully evaluate and compare the results of our operations from period to period by removing the impact of our capital structure, our asset base and certain non-routine events which we do not expect to occur in the future; and
- is used by our management for various purposes, including as measures of operating performance and liquidity, to assist in comparing performance from period to period on a consistent basis, in presentations to our board of directors concerning our financial performance and as a basis for strategic planning and forecasting.

We have provided a reconciliation of net income attributable to common shareholders, the most directly comparable U.S. GAAP measure, to Adjusted net income in the table below for the three months ended March 31, 2020, December 31, 2019, and March 31, 2019.

Additionally, the calculation for return on equity is adjusted annualized earnings divided by average shareholders' equity. Management utilizes return on equity in evaluating how much profit the Company generates on the shareholders' equity in the Company and believes it is useful for comparing the profitability of companies in the same industry.
